

Amakusa Shiro Museum

The famous battle of faith, the battle of Amakusa and Shimabara was led by Shiro Amakusa, a 16-year-old boy with legends and mysteries.

The Amakusa Shiro Museum introduces the historical background of the “Amakusa-Shimabara Rebellion” and the cultural background influenced by the culture of Nanban in an easy-to-understand ways using materials and images. In the park, there is a “bell of love” where if you ring a bell looking at the Ariake Sea thinking about your loved ones, the love will be transmitted to the loved ones through the sea breeze. This is a museum that conveys the true figure of Shiro Amakusa and the passion of the people. It is also a place not only for history fans but also for visitors who want to follow the trajectory of a magnificent romance that fought for freedom and peace.

Contact	Amakusa Shiro Museum
Address	977-1 Naka, Oyano-machi, Kamiamakusa-city, Kumamoto Prefecture
TEL	0964-56-5311
Close	New Year Holidays (29 Dec - 01 Jan) The second Wednesdays on January and June
Fees	Adult: 600 JPY Under Junior High School Student: 300 JPY Infants: free of charge 10% discount for group more than 20 people
Hours	9:00-17:00 (last entrance until 16:20)
Parking Lot	Free of charge; available for 80 cars including 20 motor coaches

